

DenyAll appoints new R&D Director

Frédéric Le Bars joins DenyAll as Director of Research & Development. A seasoned R&D manager, the new executive's mission is to deliver quality products according to DenyAll's accelerated innovation roadmap.

DenyAll announces the appointment of a new member of its executive team, Frédéric Le Bars, as Director of R&D. Frédéric joined the company on March 31. He manages the R&D team and is responsible for delivering quality products based on the roadmap that was announced in September 2014, following the acquisition of BeeWare.

Creating an innovative team

The appointment of Frédéric Le Bars is an important milestone for DenyAll, as the company executes on its accelerated innovation strategy and gets ready to release several incremental versions of its Next Generation Web Application Firewall in the next 18 months.

"Innovation is at the heart of our strategy", says Jacques Sebag, DenyAll CEO. "We are counting on Frédéric's experience and leadership to accelerate the delivery of innovative, quality products and services which will delight our customers and helps us broaden our market reach".

Frédéric Le Bars is based in Montpellier and will be managing a team distributed between the South of France and the Paris region, at corporate headquarters in Sèvres. He will be working closely with Vincent Maury, Product Management Director, on the planned deliverables.

A seasoned R&D manager

Frédéric Le Bars, 35, has over 13 years of experience in software development. He worked for Amadeus, Satin Technologies and ITESOFT. In his last tenure, he managed a team of developers and quality assurance engineers. He contributed to the product development process definition and the organization of the 50 strong R&D team. He animated the architect community and led the definition and adoption of a new product development process based on agile methodologies.

"I'm thrilled to join DenyAll at this step of its maturing process", says Frédéric Le Bars. "I'm impressed by the quality of the products and the team. There's a lot of enthusiasm for what we're building, it's going to be fun to innovate together".
